VERY REVEREND WILLIAM J. MURPHY, S.J.

✿ All the members of the Alumni were, of course, overjoyed by the splendid gift made to his Alma Mater by His Eminence, the Cardinal. The campus has been increased by ten acres of beautiful wooded lawns. Our happiness is especially heightened by the realization that the College will now have a fitting memorial to a most distinguished alumnus. On another page of this issue of the Alumni News may be read the address delivered to the graduates of 1941 by His Eminence on the Sixtieth Anniversary of his own graduation. It is a moving address, each thought coming directly from the heart of the speaker to the hearts of his listeners—"cor ad cor loquitur". The pastor speaking to the younger members of his flock, a graduate of three score years to those of today, a man of wide vision to the uninitiated, one of the highest attainments to those untried, a brother to his younger brothers. A gift springing from a constant love and interest with all the glamor of a brilliant name, that is why Cardinal O'Connell Hall is vastly more than a gift.

As the new Alumni Board commences its term of office the College authorities extend to its members the pledge of unflinching support and every good wish that the progress so auspiciously begun in the preceding years may fulfill its promised increase. It is fitting also at this time to express our gratitude to those members of the board who have retired and especially to the past President, Mr. Roland. The first duty of the Board must be the prosaic work of solidifying its organization. Spectacular displays of solidarity and loyalty are of course tonic, but these proceed always from the arduous, consistent elaboration of the details of organization. It may seem to some members of the Alumni that their society is moving rather slowly. But if they will reflect upon the steady growth in the active list of alumni during the past few years, upon the sound financial structure of the present administration, upon the growth and activity of the clubs, upon the several highly successful undertakings such as the Glee Club concerts and the Communion Breakfasts, they will find themselves happily circumstanced. A strong, energetic organization is the primary source from which must flow all the greater things we look forward to.

The opening of the present year brings many serious reflections to those who must guide the plans of youth. We face a civilization seemingly intent upon self-destruction, a nation dangerously divided upon policies that will affect its destiny, perhaps forever, a confused and foreboding state of mind in all classes of the people. Increasingly during the past few years have the colleges been drawn into the orbit of public affairs, and some administrators have emerged as national leaders. The relation between school and society is exceedingly complex, but we cannot but be aware of the danger which faces the schools in sacrificing their fundamental function to promote various theories, local, national and international. The inescapable duty of the college must always be to guard truth and to pass it on from generation to generation. The nature of man and his destiny, the development of the arts and sciences which have ennobled the race, the unchanging principles of the great human and divine societies must be interpreted to each new group. A school which neglects these foresakes its unique social effectiveness. Obviously the orientation of truth will shift from generation to generation, slowly at times, as in the past century, precipitously as in our own day but the substance of truth remains. Our task then will be to read as faithfully as may be the meaning of the vortex through which we are passing, to seek its relation to the past and to the future, and to prepare the younger generation for the new life that lies ahead.

Commencement 1941

On June 11 the sixty-fourth Commencement exercises were held on Alumni Field. In a setting truly beautiful these exercises were presided over by His Eminence, William Cardinal O'Connell. His Eminence bestowed four hundred and ninety-eight degrees on the graduates.

The Very Rev. William J. Murphy, S.J., President of the College, presented His Eminence with an episcopal ring to commemorate the sixtieth anniversary of his graduation. In presenting the ring Father Murphy said:

"As a glorious climax to a day bright with inspiring memories comes the recognition of our most distinguished Alumnus on this, the sixtieth anniversary of his graduation. His measure of years greater than that of the College itself, our beloved Cardinal has watched its gradual development from the uncertain footsteps of the past to the magnificent strides of the present. Every alumnus takes just pride in the flowering of Boston College, but what must be the feelings of joy and pride in the heart of one who can just say that much of that splendid progress is derived from his personal interest and unflagging support. From the moment he succeeded to the chair so superbly filled by a Cheverus, a Fenwick, a Fitzpatrick and a Williams, His Eminence took this his College to his heart as a special object of his predilection. Every work of zeal in the Archdiocese has felt the warmth of his inspiration, yet none in greater measure than Alma Mater.

To the Alumni he has ever been the exemplar of all that lends dignity and nobility to the man of God, all that inspires the highest ideal of civic responsibility. Every student enters this College with an exalted love of the priesthood; every student leaves its hall with that ideal enhanced. To them our Bishop and Cardinal has personified their ideal. As a citizen he has labored to and has succeeded in establishing the reign of tolerance among all classes of the Commonwealth. In times of doubt and hesitance such as the present, he has stood forth as a beacon, pointing the course that must be steered. Fearlessly he has espoused and championed the truth and the right even when the false and unjust have had the popular cry. As a thinker, a writer of beautiful prose, and a musician, he has told us by his own achievement that education is the quest not alone of college years, but must be commensurated with life's span.

Your Eminence, today, on the Diamond Jubilee of Your Eminence's graduation from Boston College, we take singular delight in asking Your Eminence to accept this episcopal ring with its little circle of diamonds as a symbol of the love and devotion which the Boston College family feels for its august son and father. May God grant Your Eminence many years during which it may betoken a loyalty and admiration that deepens with each returning anniversary."

The principal address of the day was delivered by the Rev. James M. Gillis, C.S.P., Editor of the "Catholic World".

Three honorary degrees were conferred by the College. The degree of Doctor of Letters was given to Rev. James M. Gillis, C.S.P. "Cogent argument, brilliant exposition, trenchant criticism, indefatigable zeal, profound learning, nobility of character as priest and gentleman have ever been the outstanding features of the printed and spoken word of one whom Boston College in these critical days singles out to honor." Rt. Rev. Robert P. Barry, Director of the Catholic Charitable Bureau of Boston, received the degree of Doctor of Laws. "Laboring with unstinted zeal in preaching and practise, by theory and example, in the class-room and the public forum, he has ever sought to lay broader and deeper the foundations of Catholic charitable work in the Archdiocese of Boston." To Dr. Joseph S. Stanton was granted the degree of Doctor of Laws. "An almost priestly devotion to the arduous duties of his profession has ever characterized the physician and surgeon whom we cite today."

Eight members of the class of 1891, received medals in honor of the fiftieth anniversary of their graduation. They are Rev. John B. Creeden, S.J., Rev. William J. McCarthy, Rev. William B. Whalen, Rev. Dr. John T. Creagh, William A. Murphy, Dr. John J. Eagan, Charles I. Quirk and Rev. Albert M. Ready. In presenting them with the medals Father Murphy said, "We have Divine sanction for celebrating the fiftieth anniversary of any noble or honorable event. God bade the Jews commemorate the fiftieth year by a jubilee, and Boston College, like a fond mother, justly rejoices in the fiftieth anniversary of the graduation of her honored alumni. The span of life, statisticians assure us, is slowly but steadily lengthening. Eight of her sons, graduates of the Class of 1891, are with us today, men, all of them, who have during fifty years borne evidence to the training in intellect and character that Boston College has ever sought to bestow.

"Today, in witness of her pride in such faithful sons, Alma Mater awards them medals of gold, emblematic of the lives, that under her tutelage, they have consistently led.

In honor of the fourth centenary of the founding of the Society of Jesus, George V. Kerr, Salutatorian, chose as his subject, "Jesuit Missionaries", and Thomas J. Finnegan, Jr., Valedictorian, gave an address entitled "Jesuit Educators".

At the conclusion of the exercises his Eminence spoke to the graduates and friends, and then gave his blessing to all.

The undergraduate department of the College of Arts and Sciences conferred two hundred and seventy-two degrees. The Graduate School awarded seventy-five degrees. The School of Social Work granted thirty-six degrees. The School of Law granted fifty-eight degrees.

ADDRESS OF HIS EMINENCE

✚ First of all let me express my deep gratitude to the Rector and Faculty of Boston College for this beautiful ring—their gift offered to me today. I thank them, not merely for the value and beauty of the gold and diamonds and sapphire, but most of all because it is a treasured and never-to-be-forgotten tribute from my dear Alma Mater to my humble self and my poor work for God and His Church.

I want to offer to the Class of 1941 my most sincere and hearty congratulations and felicitations. It is true that you are facing a world that looks a little dark and menacing but, fear not, Christ has said, "I am with you," and in the presence of your Divine Master you can challenge the world and all that is in it with the courage of a Christian soul, and conquer.

The great advantage of the education that you have received, my dear young men, is that you know exactly where you are in life. There has been no befogging of the issue; no covering up of difficulties. It has been no merely glamorous attempt to pretend. No! In the education that you have received you have learned the elementary and eternal principles upon which your lives must stand. Whether the sun shines in all its beauty or whether the clouds are low and dark and menacing, to the Christian soul it is all one. It is mortal life to be lived for eternity, not for a day. Therefore, even though the days are troublesome and troubling, your spirits must be high, worthy of your training and education.

Saint Ignatius Loyola, that wonder of wonders of educators, brought together from the farthest and uttermost regions of learning, the very foundations of true training in education and learning in his Ratio Studiorum, and all the world since has admired that system. Everybody who knows what education means is astounded at the depth of that glorious mind which gave itself entirely to the glory of God. And the Light of God descended into his mind and soul and we have in him and his associates that marvel of continuous effort which demonstrates to the world that learning must be as deep as the foundations of the earth — but again it must rise high above the earth and soar into the very presence of God, Himself. He has given those here, to all who accept it, and thank God you have accepted it, the key to a noble life.

Saint Ignatius and everybody who came after him in his glorious Order know what it is to live nobly. They never think or talk about a merely successful life from a worldly point of view. But the noble life, yes, that they know and that they teach. My dear young men, the education which you have received here may be summed up in these four points: 1) a clear mind; 2) a clean heart; 3) perfect trust in God, and, 4) complete and absolute devotion to duty.

You have been taught perfectly, genuinely and sincerely the principles which make for a clear mind, a mind that can distinguish between truth and nonsense, between eternal principles and mere theories. The minds of many educators today are so befogged that in reading what they write you wonder if they understand it themselves. The simplicity, however, of the Christian Education inculcated by Loyola is clarity itself. There is nothing to hide and everything to reveal and it inculcates from the very beginning a priceless clarity of thought, a clear mind, the real object, it seems to me, of true education.

A new innovation today, yes, but what of it, tomorrow it is forgotten as if it never existed. It is passing. Let it pass! Keep your own solid substance, your own permanent principles. Judge life and the world by them and you are safe. Wars come and go, millions of foibles and countless heresies but a man with a clear mind is not deceived by any befogging of the issue. He understands the principles of life and realizes that wars come because true principles have been violated and he knows that until these principles have been set right there will be no Peace. A clear mind looks straight through sham and deceit and it is not satisfied until it gets the truth.

A Clean Heart! a heart that loves good devotedly and ardently and turns its back on what is evil. With all the folly of life which besets the youth of the day, it requires really a miracle of God's grace to keep the heart clean, but you have been taught the secret of it. You have labored day by day in the presence of holy men. You know what it is to have a clear mind and a clean heart, so let the world pass by with all its follies and nonsense. Be clean of heart for only the clean of heart shall see God.

You must have perfect trust in God. Absolute faith and confidence in Him who created you. It is the substance of religion, and, my dear young men, I can tell you from experience that you will need it: You are passing into life today from these sheltered walls where all things have been beautiful. Each one of you now must face the storm of life, but, fear not, with perfect trust in God you will conquer. He will never forsake you. He is your truest friend. Indeed, he is your only friend in the end. Sixty years ago I was in your place looking out on life. I have lived those sixty years in whatever occupation God called me to do for Him both in preparation and in deed, and let me tell you—I am an old man—life can be very hard. You can be very little understood at times—sometimes very misunderstood — and it will pain you deeply. You want to do what is right, and so many things stand in the way that it becomes difficult, and I tell you now that without perfect trust in God, the human mind and heart cannot stand it. It would just droop and die, because there is so much opposition, so much misunderstanding, so much temptation, so much allurements surrounding human life; and unless you make up your mind, now, that you will be true and loyal to God, with perfect trust in Him, there will be times when life will be very black indeed. But, with the Light of God shining in your soul, all will be bright no matter how dark things may seem around you. Even at times when you think you are failing, go on with perfect trust and confidence in God. Perfect trust, then, in Almighty God, no matter what comes.

And lastly, my dear young men, it is essential that you be absolutely devoted to duty wherever or whatever that duty is. It matters not whether your position be high or low. It is quite immaterial in the eyes of God. We are His creatures and we ought to be the instruments of His glory and whether the position is high or low it does not matter at all if He is satisfied. The lowest have been oftentimes the highest according to His standards. Our Blessed Lady, herself, the handmaid of the Lord, the humble servant of God, was destined to become the Queen of Heaven.

Devotion to duty! Yes, it is sometimes very hard. You who have not yet been taught life do not realize this. Sometimes it is extremely hard. Oftentimes it seems almost impossible to do the things you are expected to do. But again, what does it matter if you seem to fail in the eyes of the world provided that before God you have done your duty. Seeming failure or lack of worldly success means nothing to Him. His standard is eternal and never changes. He made us; He created us; He knows our weaknesses and in spite of them He loves us. Trust Him and do whatever work He asks you to do to the best of your ability and He will be your reward, and really, there is no other. At the end of life, what is there but the hope of God.

And so, my dear young men, to sum it all up in these four points, your education has inculcated in you these virtues: A clear mind; a clean heart; perfect trust in God and absolute devotion to duty. St. Ignatius, himself, was the practical embodiment of all these wonderful virtues of mind and heart. That is the inheritance he left, a challenge which you have accepted, a heritage which you have received.

And so I have come here today as your father in God, eager and anxious to say a few words to you which I hope you will remember all through your life. Remember them, and I am sure that they will help you in whatever situation or work that you will face in life. And remember, too, that you have received this wonderful education through the goodness and generosity and sacrifice of your parents. Love them tenderly. Be true sons to such good fathers and mothers. Remember also your teachers. As the procession filed down before me this afternoon, there came a little band of men dressed in plain soutanes, and as they passed, I said to myself, there are the men who deserve all the honor. They were your teachers—self-sacrificing men who have devoted their lives to your training and education that your lives may be nobler; and you owe them affection and love and devotion. You owe them a debt you can never repay.

My dear young men, I feel strongly the presence of Almighty God in the midst of this great throng which has gathered here to glorify His Holy Name. His Holy Spirit is above this sacred place. He is here with you to encourage you as you start on the road of life, and He will be with you always to help you gain the final victory. For this purpose He made you and with this end in view you have been trained and educated.

Again, I want to thank the good Jesuit Fathers from the bottom of my heart for their devotion, not only to me, but to the wonderful work they are doing. Sixty years seems a long time to look forward to, but sixty years seems only a shadow passing to me now. Life is hard, but it moves on, and it is almost gone before we realize it. I come back here always with the deepest reverence and affection for all that Boston College means to me and to all of you. And so, I beg God's blessing upon the College, its Faculty, its students and friends.

My God bless you all.

ALUMNI DAY

☪ More than a thousand graduates returned to the Heights last June to celebrate Alumni Day. The day, with the exception of a 13-1 loss by the ball team to Holy Cross, was a success and enjoyed by everyone.

Jeremiah W. Mahoney, '21, of West Roxbury, was elected President of the Alumni Association for this year. The other officers

"THE JESUITS IN HISTORY"

✚ It is a curious thing that Father Martin P. Harney's recently completed "The Jesuits in History" is the only complete history of the order available in English. Perhaps this is due in part to the fact that the Jesuits have seldom received the detached study of dispassionate historians.

No organization on earth has received more virulent abuse than the Jesuits, and it may well be that no organization is more stalwartly defended by its supporters. It is an unmistakable sign of the dynamic when an individual or a society is either loved or hated.

Through its four centuries of existence the Society of Jesus has been, in the ultimate degree, the Church militant. Unlike the contemplative orders, it has vigorously entered the limelight of active life. There is no country in middle or southern Europe in whose modern history the Jesuits have not played an important role, and the complete history of America is complete only when substantial attention is paid to the role of the Jesuits.

Father Harney brought to his study the inestimable advantage of a background rich in study of the most decisive period in the modern history of the Catholic Church. For many years he has been a close student of the Reformation and the Counter-Reformation. It was in this first century of its existence that the Jesuits enjoyed their golden era. To it belonged the saints, Ignatius, Xavier, Aloysius of Gonzaga, Stanislaus Kostka and Francis Borgia; to it belonged such scholars of exegesis as Salmeron and Lapide, the theologians Bellarmin and Suarez, the moralists Sanchez and Lessius. To this period as well belonged that band of earnest scholars who set standards of research at which this scientific age does not scoff and whose spirit still informs certain aspects of Catholic scholarship on the continent, the Bollandists.

Thus it is Father Harney's good fortune to have his most intimate knowledge in the period when the society to which he belongs played its most important role in world affairs. But he has as well the comprehensive grasp of his theme to do justice to all periods in the order's history, including the more recent.

Despite the solid scholarship which has gone into the work, the author retains that lightness of touch so characteristic of his own personality.

Thus he achieves in large measure that most difficult of syntheses, the solidity of scholarship with readability. The volume, which is published by America Press, 53 Park Place, New York, is one which will interest every member of the alumni.

CARDINAL O'CONNELL

✚ The more obvious a truth is, the more trite it grows by repetition. Thus the reference to Cardinal O'Connell as "our most distinguished alumnus" tends to bring a faint smile of amusement to the lips of those of us far enough removed from college days to sense what has grown trite by repetition, which at the same time in no way reflects on the accuracy of the characterization.

Cardinal O'Connell is our most distinguished alumnus and a man of great distinction in our community and country. For many years he has personified the better aspects of the conservative tradition in church and state. He has been preeminently a builder and under his aegis the archdiocese has flourished. The cry from the substantial edifices and firmly entrenched faith of today to the meager beginnings of two generations ago is indeed a far one.

Cardinal O'Connell has celebrated his sixtieth anniversary as an alumnus of Boston College. As all know, he signalized the occasion by presenting to Boston College the princely Liggett estate which adjoins the present property. In thus bringing into being Cardinal O'Connell Hall, he has created the sort of memorial to himself which would be nearest to his heart. Cardinal O'Connell Hall, through the years, will be a fructifying spot, from which will come young men fortified in the faith he loves and intellectually equipped for life, to make ever stronger and better the Church in this community which already owes so much to his wise guidance.

FATHER MCGARRY

✚ To the long list of militant Jesuits who have gone to their God has been added the name of Rev. William J. McGarry, S. J., the former President of Boston College, who passed away September 23, in New York. A simple man, a profound scholar, he adopted the pen as his sword in the defense of his faith.

In his brief term as President he revealed his devotion to Boston College by an undertaking dear to his heart, the development of the library. It was he who modernized the stack-room, and then considerably increased the number of volumes so necessary for research. Because of his intense fidelity to his duties he was obliged to resign. Even then he forgot himself and soon became editor of "Theological Studies".

Prior to his appointment as head of Boston College, he was a member of the faculty of

ALUMNI PRESIDENT

 We members of the Executive Board of your Alumni Association take this opportunity to talk briefly to you:

We thank you for your expression of confidence; we appreciate the honor you have conferred upon us; we believe that we know our responsibilities and shall do our best to discharge those responsibilities; we invite your criticism and suggestions; we promise to Father Rector and to you our full cooperation; we urge continued loyal support of the alumni activities and of the entire program at the College.

The College is now commencing a new football season under a new staff of coaches, and we pledge to the coaching staff and to the Athletic Association our continued support and loyalty.

Let us take this opportunity to express to Father Rector our appreciation of the interest which he has manifested in the graduates by the establishment of a Placement Bureau at the College. We urge the alumni to cooperate with the Director, George P. Donaldson, '29, by referring to him any information they may have as to positions which might be available for graduates.

May we reiterate the request of Father Rector that appeared in the Commencement issue of ALUMNI NEWS: "let all of us pray daily that this school to which we are deeply devoted may enjoy God's special protection during the days ahead."

Sincerely yours,
JEREMIAH W. MAHONEY, President.

Weston College, Jesuit house of studies, serving there from 1930 to 1937 as professor of dogmatic theology, as dean of philosophy and as dean of studies.

He received his Bachelor of Arts degree from Woodstock College in 1917 and in the following year earned his Master's degree. Fardham University, where he taught mathematics, and philosophy from 1918 to 1922, gave him a Doctor of Philosophy degree in 1922. He completed his theological studies in 1926, earning from Woodstock College the degree of Doctor of Sacred Theology.

After teaching sacred scriptures for two years at Weston, he went to the Pontifical Bible Institute in Rome for further study, at the conclusion of which, in 1930, he was given his licentiate in sacred scripture.

Since 1934, he had been assistant editor of "Thought," Jesuit quarterly of arts and sciences, and was a contributor to the Ecclesiastical Review, a homiletic monthly. He was author of "Anthropology and Knowledge of God," "Mystical Body," "Paul the Crucified."

During his tenure of office at young people's meetings at which he condemned the modern trend toward paganism. At one time he attributed the rise of modern tyranny to atheistic evolutionary dogmas, and at another time was critical of the part played by non-Catholic colleges in what he termed the breakdown in morality.

We who are the graduates of Boston College are saddened by the loss of this priest of God. We find consolation in the thought that Father McGarry, after a life dedicated to the ideals of Christianity, has received his heavenly reward from his Master.

The 1941 Eagles

BILL HAYWARD

Ever mindful of its glorious heritage, this year's Boston College football team has already given indications that it will go down in Maroon and Gold gridiron annals as a unit high in national ranking.

Once underway, the schedule, admittedly the toughest in our history, has but one hiatus and that just prior to the Clemson clash. The campaign is sure to prove strenuous and only the prophets can foretell what the records will show December 1st.

Since New Year's Day when the Eagle conquered the famous Volunteers of Tennessee 19-13, several changes in personnel have taken place at University Heights. Graduation took its inevitable toll as 16 seniors received their degrees. Promising freshmen moved into the varsity. Alumni witnessed the departure of last year's coaching staff and the inauguration of a new regime under Dennis E. Myers, Iowa '30, talented football technician, strategist, storyteller and moving picture hobbyist.

Refreshingly optimistic, this laughing-eyed Algona product, assumed a new position which some wont to describe as not unlike the precarious perch of a man sitted on a keg of dynamite. But Myers calmly proceeded with his task last Spring, spent the Summer planning, not worrying, and greeted the advent of the campaign without any change of heart.

Since Labor Day when the temperature rose to 90-odd degrees, Coach Myers and his assistants — Carl Brumbaugh, Harry Marr, Moody Sarno, and Tom Powers — have been working like Trojans, polishing the famed "T" formation and preparing for the hard road ahead. The progress has been encouraging as day after day casual observers note the improvement. Nifty ball handling razzle-dazzle, clean blocking and hard running made the intra-squad scrimmages assume all of the spectacular features of a major game.

A so-called Team A was picked at the outset this Fall. The Spring drills had given the coaching staff an excellent chance to appraise available talent. It was understood that competition would continue unceasingly. That the slight edge existing in many cases between the first, second and third string operatives could be easily dulled. Squad spirit was nurtured along its usual high scale.

A nucleus of four regular members of last year's eleven and several standout upperclassmen were joined by a better-than-average crop of varsity newcomers. Capt. Alfred Morro, the Providence, R. I., right tackle; Henry Woronicz, Brockton, Mass., left end; Mike Holovak, Lansford, Pa., fullback, and Frank Maznicki, West Warwick, R. I., halfback, were the sole remaining starters of the Sugar Bowl tilt. But there were several other players whose exploits as substitutes had contributed considerably to the triumph in New Orleans.

Foremost among these was Harry "Mickey" Connolly, South Norwalk, Conn., junior, scorer of one touchdown against Tennessee and spearhead of another march into paydirt.

Mickey caught the fancy of the coaches last spring and ever since then he's been the key man in the "T". His coolness under fire and the natural ease in which he performs routine and more difficult assignments, tickles Carl Brumbaugh whose previous association with the Chicago Bears makes him strive for football perfection.

Close on Mickey's heels, however, presses Eddie Doherty, a sophomore via St. John's Prep. whose triple-threat ability fits very nicely into the twin-ignition offense.

In order to operate the "T" successfully it is necessary to have an all around performer at quarterback. One who can palm a pigskin like a pea, pass accurately, punt well, pilot the team and prowl with the ball like a whirling dervish. Both boys possess these requisites and the success of the team will be measured by their individual achievements.

Maznicki and Holovak, third and fourth highest scorers among the major colleges in the East last year, showing increased speed and the improvement linked with experience, maintain their regular status in the backfield.

For a left halfback Ted Williams the Gloucester life-guard has the correct prescription and after seeing moving pictures of Ted's Sugar Bowl runs, Myers has nominated him to complete the foursome.

For reserves there is Justin McGowan, Adolph Kissell, and Bob Jauron among the seniors; Carl Lucas, and Bob Dempsey, juniors while Jim Benedetto, Bill Connery, Ed Mahoney, Bill Quinn, Bob Burns, and Chris Brady are fine sophomore backs.

With Capt. Morro and Woronicz firmly entrenched in the frontier, Coach Myers from the start concentrated on filling the five remaining line vacancies. Flashy Fred Naumetz, the versatile Newburyport product won the pivot assignment and Don Currivan, the Mansfield junior whose Holy Cross fumble-recovery was most opportune, grabbed the right-end berth.

Gil Bouley, the Jewitt City sophomore living up to all advance notices and Steve Levanitis, giant Cambridge senior will keep the left tackle position in capable hands.

Joe Repko, a home town neighbor of Holovak has moved into the left guard job while

FACULTY CHANGES

College of Arts and Sciences

Changes bring several new members to the Faculty this year. Rev. E. S. Swift, S.J., has been appointed Minister. Rev. T. P. Butler, S.J., is in the department of Chemistry. In the History department are Rev. J. F. Geary, S.J., and Messrs. F. J. Donoghue S.J., and F. A. Small, S.J. Rev. J. M. Hickey, S.J., will teach Latin. Rev. J. M. Leavey, S.J., will teach French.

Rev. William E. Shanahan, S.J., has become Dean of Men. Rev. L. P. McCauley, S.J., is teaching Greek and Latin. Rev. Peter J. McKone, S.J., is teaching Physics. Rev. George A. Morgan, S.J., Religion.

Mr. J. D. Donoghue, S.J., is in the department of Psychology. Mr. R. V. Lawlor, S.J., in English. Mr. G. R. Roy, S.J., in Biology. Mr. P. A. Sullivan, S.J., will teach Latin and Greek. Dr. Walter R. Carmody has been appointed to the department of Chemistry.

The following have left the College; Rev. Vincent de Paul O'Brien, S.J. who has been appointed Dean of the Extension School; Rev. Anthony G. Carroll, S.J., now a chaplain at Camp Edwards; Rev. J. R. Hurley, S.J., transferred to Boston College High School; Rev. R. F. X. Cahill, S.J., and Rev. Maurice V. Whelton, S.J., in tertianship at Pomfret, Conn.; Rev. L. F. Herne, S.J., has gone to Boston College High School; Rev. T. A. Fay, S.J., has been assigned to Miami; Rev. E. H. Finnegan, S.J., has gone to Fordham for advanced studies.

The following have returned to Weston for theology: Messrs. R. I. Burke, S.J., T. P. Donovan, S.J., M. F. Greene, S.J., F. J. Moriarty, S.J., J. P. Murray, S.J., M. F. Reidy, S.J., J. F. Caulfield, S.J., S. T. Gerry, S.J., T. M. Lannon, S.J. and T. W. O'Connor, S.J.

THE LAW SCHOOL

Under the sponsorship of His Eminence, William Cardinal O'Connell, the Law School will inaugurate this year the annual celebration of the "Red Mass" in Boston. The Mass will be celebrated on Saturday, October 4, 1941, at 10:00 o'clock in the Collegiate Church of the Immaculate Conception on Harrison Avenue. The officers of the Mass and the detailed arrangements for this historical and colorful ceremony will be announced shortly in the daily press.

The origin of the Red Mass is obscured by its antiquity. It is the Solemn Votive Mass of the Holy Spirit, celebrated at the beginning of the judicial year, and attended by judges and lawyers for the purpose of invoking God's guidance and blessing in the administration of justice. Its traditional name, the Red Mass, is probably derived from the fact that the vestments worn by the officers of the Mass are red, and the robes of the attending justices were, in ancient days, bright scarlet. Moreover, the petition of the Mass seeks the aid of the Holy Spirit, symbolized by the flaming fire of Divine Love and Wisdom.

The tradition of the Red Mass goes back for centuries in Rome, Paris, and London. During the reign of Louis IX, St. Louis of France (1226-1270), a special chapel was erected in Paris as a proper setting for this beautiful ceremony. La Sainte Chappelle, an architectural gem, was used but once during the year and then for this impressive service. For centuries the Red Mass has officially opened the judicial year of the Sacred Roman Rota. The custom in England goes back to the Middle Ages and even during the present war the Red Mass is attended annually by judges and lawyers of all faiths.

In the United States the tradition was inaugurated in New York City where the Guild of Catholic Lawyers meet annually with judges and members of law faculties for the Votive Mass in old St. Andrew's Church in the shadow of the towering State and Federal courts. At present the Mass is celebrated annually in New York, Pennsylvania, Illinois, California, and Washington, attended by judges of the highest courts in the land and of all religious faiths. A very large attendance of members of the bar and of judges of the State and Federal courts is anticipated at the first annual Red Mass in Boston.

Professor Arthur L. Brown, formerly of the Boston University Law School, has been appointed to the Faculty of the Law School to succeed Professor Jerome J. Downey, who resigned to practise law in Illinois. Professor Brown received his B.B.A., LL.B., and LL.M. from Boston University. He was law secretary to the Justices of the Supreme Judicial Court of Massachusetts from 1928 to 1929. He taught law at Boston University from 1929 to 1940. During the past year he was a Brandeis Research Fellow at the Harvard Law School. His many contributions to legal periodicals are well known to the legal profession. Professor Brown will conduct the courses in Administrative Law, Contracts, and Insurance.

BOSTON COLLEGE SCHOOL OF SOCIAL WORK

On June 11, 1941 thirty-six persons received the degree of Master of Science in Social Work. Three of the graduates have since been inducted in the Army, namely, Ben Chiampa, Fred Glynn and Miles Zisseron. Ben and Fred are at Fort Devens for the present and Miles is stationed at Fort Lee. Many of the recent graduates are at the present time employed in Catholic and non-sectarian agencies. John Baldi and Ed Landry are employed as case workers in the Family Welfare Society of Boston. John Conroy is now working with the Children's Aid Society in Pittsburgh. Agnes Cox and Anne Early have been employed as case workers in White Plains Catholic Charities, and Bob Curran, Class of 1938, is their supervisor. Mary Dillon and Kathleen O'Donoghue are employed in the Hartford Diocesan Bureau of Social Service. Gene Donovan has gone to Omaha, Nebraska, to work with the Catholic Charities. John Driscoll is working with the Children's Center in New Haven, and Ed Kilduff is working in Highland Heights, a Catholic institution in New Haven. Ed Foley has gone to Pittsburgh to work for the Family Welfare Society; Mary Foley is employed in the Norwalk Catholic Charities as a case worker. Anita Gauvreau is working with the Cleveland Catholic Charities, and Ed O'Brien is employed as a case worker in a Catholic institution in the Cleveland Diocese. Paul Hayes and Harold Langlois are both working in Buffalo with the Children's Aid Society. George LeDoux is employed as a boy guidance worker in the State of Vermont. Bill Quirk is working with a Catholic institution at Deep River, Connecticut. Joseph Ryan has gone to work for the government in the Surplus Food Commodities as a liaison worker between the departments of public welfare and the Surplus Food Commodities Division of the Department of Agriculture. Gerard Shea has been appointed as a case worker for the Angel Guardian Home in Brooklyn, New York. Two of the graduates of this class were recently married, namely, John Baldi and George LeDoux.

Charles Boodro, Class of 1940, is now working at the Watertown Arsenal as a social worker. Charles Daly, Class of '39, is the Executive Secretary of the Waltham Community Fund. John Fitzgibbon, Class of '40, is taking a position with the Federal Housing Program, and Tony Flynn, Class of '38, is now employed by that Department, stationed in Washington, D. C. Jim Foley, Class of '40, has been employed by the American Red Cross and next week will fly to Cairo, Egypt where he will be stationed as a special representative of the American Red Cross in the Middle East. Bill Giblin, Class of '38, is still in London with the American Red Cross. Some weeks ago he reported from London on one of the foreign broadcasts in reference to the conditions in Northern Ireland. Ray Hogan, Class of '38, who was recently married in New York, has taken a position with the U. S. O. Stan Milus, Class of '38, and Ed Power, Class of '40, are both in the Army. Stan is located at Fort Bragg and Ed is at Fort Devens. Frank Mason, Class of '40, is now employed with the Social Security Board in the Survivors Insurance Department Division.

The following graduates have recently married: William Bergeron, Class of '40; John Kane, Class of '39; John F. Roche, Class of '38; Bob Ott, Class of '38, has a boy born July 1, 1941. Fred Garrity, Class of '38, has a little girl born in August, 1941.

PLACEMENT BUREAU

The Placement Bureau mentioned by Father Rector in his address to the Alumni in June was officially opened in the Tower Building at the Heights on September 2. Father Murphy thinks that the establishment of this service will enable the College to demonstrate in a tangible way her interest in the success of all her sons while assisting them to choose wisely and enter promptly occupations which will bring them satisfaction and success.

The Bureau will perform the following functions:

1. Placement of Seniors.
2. Placement of undergraduates in part-time jobs and summer jobs.
3. The accumulation of occupational and educational information of use to all classes.
4. Counseling with students regarding objectives and means to their attainment requiring degree.

The Director of the Bureau, George Donaldson, '29, will spend his time as needed on all five of these activities with the placement of seniors as his most pressing duty. In all the activities the co-operation of the Alumni is essential for marked success. Father Murphy and his deans, Father Kelly and Father Long and the faculty earnestly hope that the Alumni will put their shoulders to the wheel and help the cause by:

1. Informing the bureau of conditions in business or the professions; in their places of business or residence, or in government service.
2. Informing the bureau of actual vacancies existing or about to exist, with all pertinent information as to qualifications needed, person to contact, duties of the job, remuneration, etc., in time for possible candidates to be notified and sent out.

3. If possible, actually arranging for interviews for capable students.
4. Any possible places of worthwhile permanent or part-time or summer employment, with names of persons to be interviewed regarding them.

In brief any information regarding employment or education, whether in the professions or business or government service which may help the students to choose a life work, to enter upon it and succeed in it; any advice or suggestions will be gratefully received by the Bureau.

Father Long requests those who have not returned the questionnaire sent out by him in May to please do so. The information and the enthusiastic suggestions contained in those already received have encouraged the College in its latest undertaking which it hopes will bring the faculty, alumni, and student body into a closer fraternity for the good of all.

BUSINESS SCHOOL

✂ For the first time the Business School has four full classes, with a total enrollment of approximately 325 students. About 100 students registered in the Freshman Class, an increase over last year.

On September 22, the School moved into its new quarters, Cardinal O'Connell Hall, formerly the Liggett Estate, in Newton.

The Rev. James J. Kelley, S.J., Dean, announced the appointment of the following to the faculty:

Mr. William E. Husband, who will teach Auditing, Money and Banking.

Mr. Arthur H. Doyle, giving the course on Taxes.

Mr. James W. Culliton, teaching Corporation Finance and Statistics.

LIGGETT ESTATE

✂ In July, the President announced that His Eminence, the Cardinal, had presented the College with the Liggett estate on Hammond Street in Newton. This generous act happened most opportunely, because in recent years the facilities on the Heights had not been adequate to care for the students.

The Business School has occupied the property. The students entered their new classrooms for the first time on September 22. The main building most appropriately has been named Cardinal O'Connell Hall.

The estate is ten acres in area. Situated at a distance from the street is the main building, of red brick. The architecture is Tudor. This building is copied after Gwdyr Hall in England. Immediately inside the principal building is a huge reception hall, surrounded by a balcony on the second floor. Each room is finished in panelled wood. Each contains a fireplace.

The school with the outbuildings produce a quadrangular effect. These outbuildings house the superintendent of the grounds and provided stable facilities in former days.

On the grounds are a tennis court and large greenhouse. The grounds themselves have been kept in fairly good condition.

Later on in the season one of the buildings will be occupied by the Athletic Association. The coaches will then finally have rooms for themselves. Showers and lockers will be provided for the athletes.

ALUMNI SUPPER DANCE

Here it is September with football pushing baseball off the sports page. Before we know it the Holy Cross game will have come and gone. As a part of tradition is the big Alumni Supper Dance the night before. It is a little too early to give you all the details. However, we are looking forward to one highly successful evening.

ATHLETICS AT BOSTON COLLEGE

✂ For the past two years Nathaniel J. Hasenfus '22 has been gathering material for a volume, "Athletics at Boston College". This book will fill a great void in Boston College history, going back to earliest Boston College athletics established in 1883. This volume is to cover all major sports, football, baseball, hockey, and track. It is to contain over six hundred pages, with complete histories and pictures of every team that has ever represented Boston College.

This is a tremendous undertaking and can be made possible only by the co-operation of the Alumni body, and especially that of the athletes themselves. Football is now fairly complete, with the exception of 1893-94-95. Baseball material for the years 1883 to 1905 is very sketchy, indeed. Hockey, after its revival in 1917 is complete but hockey as ice polo in 1895-96-97-98-99 is as yet inaccurate. Track in the nineties is far better covered than track from 1900 to 1915, Basketball on James Street is not at all complete.

This is an appeal for aid from the author of the book (a non-profit volume), to all men in the Alumni body for the immediate loan of old newspaper clippings, photographs, scrapbooks, scoreboards, cuts, anecdotes, in fact for anything that will go toward making the volume a complete record of Boston College sports. Only by a helpful alumni can the book be made really accurate. Any material that an alumnus may be willing to lend will be handled carefully and will be returned at once to the owner.

In order that this work be successful, all information must be sent to Nathaniel J. Hasenfus, 15 Kirk Street, West Roxbury (PARKway 5226-J) by November 15.

Here and There

JOHN J. WALSH

☛ The chairman of the Boston committee in the recent aluminum drive was a man whose powers of self-effacement almost equal his powers of civic service. His name is John J. Walsh.

Mr. Walsh headed the local aluminum committee. He is an overseer of public welfare, a divisional chairman in the community fund; he serves on the advisory board of the department of education, he serves on Governor Saltonstall's committee to co-ordinate war appeals, he serves on the Boston public safety committee.

He is president of the St. Vincent de Paul Society, a trustee of the Home for Destitute Catholic Children, on the committee of the National Catholic Community Service.

Mr. Walsh receives the same recompense from each of these positions. Financially he receives nothing; he manager also, in some mysterious way, to find time to practise law. Spiritually his reward is ample; working quietly, steadily shunning publicity, expecting no reward but the feeling of service done his fellow man, he embodies that spirit of service to his fellow man on which, in the last analysis, civilization depends.

CARDINAL O'CONNELL HALL

☛ The magnificent gift of the Louis K. Liggett estate presented by Cardinal O'Connell to Boston College, represents its most important acquisition since the University Heights site was purchased in 1907.

The architectural magnificence of the Boston College group and the spacious approach from Commonwealth Avenue tend to conceal the fact that the original site has become too small for the expanded institution of today. Cardinal O'Connell Hall will go far to solve a problem which has grown very acute since the Graduate and Business Schools moved to Newton.

It is also reported that the remodelling of another structure on the property will solve a minor but irritating problem, Boston College's frequently lamented lack of a field house.

Cardinal O'Connell, working for the growth of the church of which he is a devoted servant, has erected many memorials to his own far-sighted vision. This splendid addition to a college which often hails him as its most distinguished alumnus will not be among the least.

Boston Trowler, July 28, 1941.

QUIETLY ACTIVE

☛ Boston College is the alma mater of Boston-born Myles Connolly, who is now an important member of the cinema colony out Hollywood way, and his name is enrolled on the roster of the class of 1918.

The cap and gown of college days were soon replaced by the U. S. Navy uniform which, as an enlisted man, he donned almost immediately upon graduation. On his return to civilian life he "took his pen in hand" and turned to newspaper reporting and short story writing. He was subsequently editor of COLUMBIA Magazine, and it was this time that he took to "authoring" in earnest and brought out his first book, the very successful MR. BLUE.

In Hollywood, Myles Connolly goes his quiet

VARSIITY CLUB

The annual meeting of the Varsity Club will take place Wednesday, October 8, at 7.30, at the College, in the Senior Assembly Hall. Election of officers and others matters will be the business of the evening. Entertainment will follow in the form of football pictures of some of the games.

The club received the following resolution from the New Orleans Mid-Winter Sports Association last spring:

Be It Resolved: That we, the undersigned members of the New Orleans Mid-Winter Sports Association, do hereby bestow upon the Boston College Varsity Club the title of "New England's Premier Hosts." This title was merited as a result of the banquet, entertainment and courtesies extended the Sugar Bowl Committee on their visit to Boston, February 9th to 11th, 1941, when the Sugar Bawlers, voiced the unanimous opinion that Boston College Varsity Club's hospitality stood unparalleled and unexcelled.

This resolution by thirty-nine members of the New Orleans association.

GILL

John C. Gill, '31, Executive Secretary of the Alumni Association, has been given a leave of absence, beginning September. He has been appointed Assistant Field Supervisor of the National Catholic Community Service, one of the agencies administering the U. S. O. program.

Mr. Gill's leave of absence was given with reluctance, since for the last five years he has performed his duties efficiently and graciously as our Secretary. However, because of the worthy program of the U. S. O. and because it needs such men as Mr. Gill for organization work, he was released for a short time. We wish him success.

Mr. John J. Hayes, '30, will fill the position of Mr. Gill until he returns.

HORSFALL

The news that Al Horsfall, '39, had been killed in an airplane accident in Alabama on August 30, came as a shock to his many friends. After graduation, Al accepted a position as coach of Madison High School, Madison, Me. This year he entered the Army, joining the Aviation Corps, and was assigned to Maxwell Field, Mobile, Alabama, when the unfortunate accident occurred.

While in college, Al was popular, both on the football field and about the campus. He will be missed in Boston College circles.

Al Fiorentino and Racca Canale, erstwhile tackle are staging a tug-of-war for the right guard post.

End replacement include Eddy "Snatch-em" Zabilski, Terry Geogeghan, and Charlie Taale among the upperclassmen, with Angelo Nick-etakis, Charlie Furbush and Joe Sullivan, sophomores.

Angelo Sisti, sophomore from Providence shows up very well as Capt. Morra's understudy while Lea Strumski, the Cantan veteran also hovers in the forefront.

Peculiarly enough the reserve guard situation is practically all-sophomore. Bill Power, Patsy Darone, Joseph King, Lin Blanchard, Pete Prezkap and Vic Matthews are very closely matched. Tuck Taomey and Tom Moran are rated in that order behind Naumetz for center activity.

The line averages 200 pounds per man and the backfield about 185 pounds.

All in all, the situation is encouraging. Everyone is reluctant to do any wholesale predicting this Fall but one can't escape the optimism whenever students or alumni gather to discuss the team.

MYLES CONNOLLY

in his pet hobbies of tennis, swimming and reading.

The Connolly household, consisting of "Mr. and Mrs." and four children, is rather a "movable menage." In Autumn, New York and Boston are the family's headquarters; Los Angeles is their winter habitat, and they enjoy the good old summertime at Malibu Beach.

SOMETHING'S COOKING

Parade of the Classes

1914

JOHN S. KEOHANE
12 Acocia Avenue, Chestnut Hill

☞ Rev. Edward L. Hughes, O.P., S.T.L., until recently pastor of St. Dominic's Church, Detroit, has assumed the pastorate of St. Pius Church, Chicago, where he is the director of the nationally known shrine of St. Jude Thaddeus.

1915

PHILIP J. BOND
18 Houston Street, West Roxbury

☞ George E. Casey is located in Hollywood, California, teaching in the Holly High School. After teaching in Quincy for three years, George moved to California. He was one of the best of the Natick High School athletes, having a better reputation as a halfback than his brother Eddie of Harvard fame. His present address is 5156 Franklin Avenue, Hollywood.

The sympathy of the class is extended to Father Leo A. O'Leary whose father died recently.

William F. Ward is Chief Examiner, Insurance Division, for the State. Bill still lives in Canton. He was one of the judges of the Diocesan Carnival of Bands, Drum Corps, etc., held at Alumni Field last June.

The Boston Traveler recently paid a well deserved tribute to John J. Walsh, whose civic responsibilities would tax the powers of three men. The editorial listed the activities — all unpaid — that John has undertaken. It isn't often that a newspaper makes an individual the subject of an editorial.

George S. Hennessey is a teacher of Spanish and French in the Roxbury Memorial High School for Boys. George is also a member of the oral board that examines prospective teachers of Spanish in the Boston public schools. His two little daughters speak fluent Spanish with a real Castilian accent. George obtained a practical background in the language as an employee of the United Fruit Company in South America and as a teacher in Puerto Rico, before entering the Boston teaching service.

The sympathy of the class is also extended to Robert J. Burns in the recent death of his brother.

United States Attorney Edmund J. Brandon makes the headline frequently. Ed has a fund of interesting stories connected with his duties in maintaining Federal law enforcement. Seen at New Silver Beach this summer — Francis R. Breath. Frank had a deep tan, probably acquired, however, at Revere Beach or Chelsea Creek.

John E. Carney is a stock broker in New York City, located at 120 Broadway.

John F. Gillespie lives in Alpine, New York. He is a sugar broker.

1916

JAMES L. O'BRIEN
41 Pondred Circle, Jamaica Plain

☞ Rev. Charles D. McInnis has been appointed head of the New Country Day School, St. Sebastian, in Newton. Charlie will be a great inspiration to the faculty and to the students.

Our twenty-fifth anniversary went off very smoothly. Jack Atkinson was responsible for its success. For the first time in the history of the College appeared a twenty-fifth anniversary year book. If other classes are interested, consult Al Brennan at Boston College High. Here's hoping 1917 will continue the good work and even do better.

JOHN J. MAHONEY
7 Avery Road, Wellesley, Mass.

☞ Gone is a summer that found the writer in physical disrepair for the most part though again operating in high. Located now in Waltham instead of Brockton. Round table collaboration of "Ed" Tracy helped the rehabilitation no little, the two Social Security Boarders of the class running true to underlinings.

"Joe" Dee reports seeing Father Adrian Verette this summer in Plymouth, N. H., where he is pastor of St. Matthew's Church. Unlike some of us — notably this columnist — he has changed but little since most of us saw him last in 1917. Takes a prominent part in civic affairs and is looking forward to our assembly next June.

From all accounts those who missed the picnic July 26th must count themselves as much the losers. The Cravens engineered a grand time as attested by Messrs. Flynn, Doyle, Tracy, Heanue, Durnan and their wives. Father Dulleo was present; also Carol Thompson who is professor of chemistry at St. Joseph's College, Emmitsburg, Md. He is married to a Virginio girl though she did not accompany Carol to Falmouth.

Father Lavery reports reading an important article in the U. S. Labor Department's Labor Review written by "Charley" Sharkey.

The last word on diets is our for the asking, Father Lavery soys. Has the whole story and will tell about them though with a somewhat wry face.

Charley Twomey's fame is spreading. Member of the class while in a hospital recently heard high praise of "Charley" from a confrere for a difficult cancer operation he performed. "Jack" McCarty is chairman of the Waltham Draft Board and a coptoin in the 23rd Infantry, Massachusetts State Guard. Still finds a little time for his law practice.

"Jim" Slattery has been addressed at 16406 Marquis Avenue, Cleveland for a long time. The mail has never been returned as undeliverable so we assumed that he was still in Ohio. We hear now that he is manager of the Cleveland office of the Travelers Insurance Company. We hope he plans to bring us up to date when June comes.

Destructive fire in August in "Joe" Hurley's dairy plant in Newton. Second time in six years that lightning has caused serious loss.

Another proof that we're becoming life's veterans: "Vin" Burke of Lexington is entering his twenty-first year at Rindge Technical School. Teaches mathematics. His three children are glad it's math, he says.

1918

WILLIAM M. CASHIN
179 Robbins Street, Milton

John Canovan spent a vacation at the Town Hotel, Folmouth, a hotbed for Holy Cross Alumni. John lost 10 pounds thrashing out the B. C.-H. C. game of last year.

Your reporter happens to be treasurer of the Association this year. There also happens to be a Loyalty Fund. There happens to be need of money to run the organization. Those are enough "happens." Now how about some money?

John O'Loughlin is still carrying on at the Library at the College.

Clorence Pike, Doc Kickham, Fr. Remi Schuver, John Hobon, John Canavan, Charlie Fitzgerald, Dick Crowley, Charlie Sexton and John Doherty were among the 1918 men at the College on Alumni Day.

John Kirk reports from his home in Cambridge, 190 Holworthy Street. He is teaching in the same town.

The Class sympathizes with Rev. Edward V. Stoford, O. S. A., in his recent bereavement.

Plans are underway for a class gathering to be held in the near future. John Canovan will welcome any suggestions.

Congratulations to John Canovan, elected vice-president of the Alumni Association.

???? years ago we entered fall classes as Sophomores. It was to be a year of initiative and originality in which members of the class were to be represented generously and conspicuously in college activities. Outstanding was the reception the class tendered the football team in the college gym. To quote the record, "Besides the varsity, the entire student body was invited, and an excellent entertainment was enjoyed . . . A noteworthy feature was the presence of some of the athletically inclined members of Greater Boston high schools . . . We wish to comment favorably upon the practical foresight of the Class' committee which invited possible college entrants to be present and catch the B. C. spirit." Officers of the Sodolity were: Prefect, Frank (Bobe) Romisch; Vice-prefect, Poul N. Rooney; Secretary, Martin Kane. In the picture of the football team we were able to recognize Harold Anderson,

Charlie Fitzgerald, John Kirk, Jim Rooney and Benny Murray.

Alumni Field was officially dedicated prior to the Holy Cross game. Our guests trimmed us 9-0.

1919

FRANCIS J. ROLAND
11 Beacon Street, Boston, Mass.

Rev. Edward T. Douglas, S.J., professor at the Heights and quondam President of the Athletic Association must follow with extreme interest our recent surge to the top of the athletic world. Likewise, Revs. Harold Quigley, S.J., and Harold Stockmon, S.J., professors at Holy Cross. Perhaps, some day, the last two will be promoted to B. C.

Dr. Elmer J. "Joe" Healy is rapidly reaching the top of the medical profession in Rhode Island.

John "Jack" Kennedy after years of feverish activity in the motion picture business in London and Paris has returned to his native haunts in southern Boston.

Best wishes to Dr. Ed Kickham. We were happy to follow his rapid recovery from his operation, and rejoice in his return to practice.

Congratulations to modest, efficient Bill Kirby, now credit manager of Gilchrist & Co.

Rev. Joseph McNomaro is now serving Uncle Sam as one of his chaplains. We recall "Joe" as New England Intercollegiate champion in the hammer throw.

Dr. James L. Honley, alias "Jim", is reflecting credit upon his college and class by his efficient management of the public schools of Providence. As might be expected, Jim has a lovely wife and family, a most attractive home and is a cordial host to B. C. men who cross his path.

The class was represented at the "Sugar Bowl" by the presence of Billie Burke, Dido Folvey, Henry Fitzpatrick, Frank Roland and Fred Shea. The deep sympathy of the class is extended to Rev. John J. O'Leary on the death of his father, and to Frank Shea on the death of his wife. Mrs. Shea, formerly Anna Scully, sister of Rev. George A. Scully, '20, was well known to our college days when her kind and attractive presence graced all of our functions. Requiescant in pace!

J. ROBERT BRAWLEY
30 Garden Street, West Roxbury

🏆 Just a reminder that the class banquet will take place as usual sometime during the football season, probably in November.

Bill Pashby has a son in the Sophomore class out at the Heights.

Father George O'Donnell was a judge for the declamation contest at his old Alma Mater, Boston Latin School, last June.

1921

GORDON F. IRONS
9 Emmonsdole Road, West Roxbury

Rev. Thomas J. Burns is a curate at St. Francis de Sales Church, Roxbury. See Charlie Coyle for information about the Chamber of Commerce.

Everett Ford attended the Symphony Music Festival in the Berkshires this summer. His son, a senior at E.H.S., accompanied him.

Ed Gallagher spent a quiet summer staying at home and going away on week-end trips.

The class extends its sympathy to Dr. Vincent Kelly and Rev. Alfred C. Sheehan, whose mothers passed away recently.

Arthur F. McCarthy is permanently situated in Philadelphia.

Bernard McGroth was awarded the degree of Master of Education at Boston Teachers College last June.

Henry McIneney has been appointed Headmaster of the Boston Central Evening High School.

Jerry Mahoney passed a pleasant vacation in the White Mountains. He is in fine shape for a busy year.

Morgan Ryan also vacationed in the White Mountains beyond North Conway at Eagle Mountain.

John H. V. McGroth is a professor at Manhattan College. We hope to see John October 18 when B. C. plays Monhotton.

Will some one please send us the address of Jimmy O'Brien?

Rev. Thomas O'Lolor, S.J., was in Boston last summer after five years in Jamaica. He has returned to Jamaica.

Tim Ryan passed away recently in Molden. His many friends will miss him.

Arthur Donovan is working for Buick Motors.

BOSTON COLLEGE

Father Francis Sarjeant, S.J., and Father Charles Mahon, S.J., are still at Baghdad College, Iraq. Jimmy Gookin's brother is also there. Rev. George McColgan is a curate at St. Charles Church in Woburn. Fathers Wolter Furlong, William Culhane and James Donovan manage to attend many of the class meetings. They show fine class spirit. John Burke of Dedham and Ed Hanon of Milton also are present at many of the meetings. Memories of the Alumni Day banquet — "Pass the ice, please,"

George K. Watson, ex-'22, has been constructing in the Marshfield area during the summer.

Fr. Frank Morrissey has been seriously ill at the Carney Hospital but expects to return to his pastorate at Farmington, Me., in the near future.

Matthew J. Malloy, president of the Stratford School on Commonwealth Avenue, reports a record enrollment. Your correspondent points with pride to two nephews and a cousin at the Heights. His cousin is a member of the Freshman football squad, and one of the nephews should be able to help coach John Kelly out.

Among the recent benedicts are Thomas F. Mohan, who became allied with Fr. William Long's family, and Charles McCarthy of Lawrence, of Cotton Bowl fame. My! my! Now if we could learn whether Ben Harrington has been corrolled, we'd be at peace.

Bob Browley comes to the rescue to answer the query "Where is Rowlandson?" Rowlandson, former playmate of Tony Comerford, is head chemist in a large Lawrence mill, holding quite a responsible position. Walter Winchell has sent me some information regarding coming events, but adds an admonition — "Hold those presses."

Charles W. Pettengill of Greenwich, Connecticut, class of '22, was recently elevated to an important committee position with Rotary International, the world-wide service club organization. He was chosen to be a member of the regional extension committee for the United States. During the year he will take an active part in planning and supervising the expansion and extension of Rotary in the United States. Mr. Pettengill is a prominent attorney of Greenwich and is past president of the Greenwich Bar Association.

FRANCIS L. FORD
14 Jenness Street, West Quincy

Don Kelleher is serving a well merited second term as a member of the Executive Committee of the Alumni Association.

Tony Mauro holds down an executive position in the Fore River Ship Yard.

Joe Crone is still winning arguments (for his clients, now) and challenging all comers, at contract.

Jerry Coughlin is Executive Secretary of the City of Boston Committee on Public Safety. Two other B. C. men prominent in the work of this group are John J. Walsh, '15, Executive Director, and Arthur Reilly, '25, Chairman.

Walter Mayo has a son in B. C. High. Are there any other '23 offspring down at old James Street?

Father Ed Coke is now stationed at Long Island Hospital, Boston Harbor.

John Flavin continues his active interest in public affairs as a member of the municipal government in Quincy.

Everybody of 1923 joins in wishing Tony Comerford the best of luck in his new position as Head Coach of Football at St. Anselm's College, Manchester, N. H.

Congratulations are in order for Bill Barry, newly appointed principal of the Michelangelo School, Boston.

George Oleson has just completed a splendid year's work as Grand Knight of Cambridge Council, K. of C.

Arthur F. Leary has been made head of the Math Department at Hyde Park High School. He was married in August.

We'd like to hear from Pat Colman, Ed Mulligan, Joe Andreoli, Frank Hickey, Frank Falvey, George Drown and several others.

ANTHONY E. LE BLANC
45 Maynard Street, Arlington.

Jim Dooling is the proud father of the fifth child. It's a girl, making the score 4 to 1 in favor of the feminine sex.

Speaking of family increases, Chris Duncan has added another boy to his family — score 4 to 0 in favor of the mole sex.

"Mal" Eich is an engineer, in Trinidad, working on a Defence Program.

John P. Sullivan has recently been appointed Supervisor of Research and Statistics in the Boston Public Schools. "J. P." is married and has a family of two boys.

In the ranks of the clergy — Rev. "Pete" McDonough is Assistant Director of the Propagation of the Faith at Franklin Street, Boston. "Charlie" Foley is a curate at St. Andrew's, Forest Hills and is also Chaplain at the Boston State Hospital.

Finally in closing, your correspondent has a plea and a complaint to make. In all the years that he has acted in this capacity he has had to rely on his own for notes on the activities of the members of the class, so please drop me a line or make a phone call and give us some news about yourself or other members of the class.

WILLIAM ARTHUR REILLY
14 Arborway, Jamaica Plain

 Word has come that Fred Leary is occupying an Executive position in the New England Telephone and Telephone Company at Stamford, Connecticut. With the Telephone Company is Philip Callon, another member of the class, who is attached to the Springfield office, where he was transferred after several years in Portland.

Fonk McCrehon is in the Employment Division connected with the Construction work at Camp Devens.

Attendance by members of the class was small at Alumni Day this year, in comparison with previous years. Arthur Duffly, Fred Mahony, Neil O'Colloghan, Bill Doyle, "Sanny" Foley, Frank McCrehon, Joe Kazlowsky, Charles Gleason, Fronk Clark, Steve Potten, and John Collins were among those noted at the various activities this year.

Rumors that John T. Fitzgerald, our Dean of the Loyola School of Law in Chicago was present were unconfirmed.

Fr. Arthur (Pot) Riley has been confined at St. Elizabeth's, where he underwent a serious operation.

WILLIAM J. CUNNINGHAM
40 Tennyson Street, West Roxbury

 To our regret we were told in June of the death of Arthur X. For- rest of Lawrence. The boys will remember Art as a sprinter in college. Also, the wife of George Burke, died in July, suddenly, shortly after the birth of their child.

Dr. Tom Halpin had his gall bladder removed at the Carney Hospital in June, and convalesced in July at Seabrook, N. H. Good to see it can happen to those fellows, too. It was probably his penalty for missing class affairs.

Twenty-six of the class enjoyed a grand week-end reunion at Stow in June, just before Alumni Day. We had such a good time that we are planning an annual outing from now on. There were no mishaps, except for a slight accident to Doc Gorman. The boys who were there will remember. Incidentally Doc Gorman vacationed at Kennebunkport, Me.

Johnny Dooley had a sweet 78 at the George Wright. John really hits them. John's newest family addition arrived in April, so that John's swell family is now three girls and little Johnny.

We enjoyed seeing Dick Finn for the first time in fifteen years at the June outing. Since then, we have seen him on Pankapaog's new course several times.

Noticed R. Nick Daley's name in an M. G. A. summary of a tournament at the Commonwealth Country Club. He's come a long way, to bat a 92 in golf. But what is more important, is the fact that Bob became the father of a third son, in August. All he needs is a fourth to complete the backfield. A quarterback, the next time!

Ed Harrison has moved in from Milton to swell the ranks of the Democrats in Jamaica Plain.

My address is above. News, please, news.

LLOYD L. DOYLE
279 Bowdoin Street, Dorchester

 The class members express their sincere sorrow on the recent bereavements of Father Elias Mealey and Father John Seckel.

Watch for a notice — time and place for a class gathering — the night before the Tennessee game.

Our Alumni Day gathering was very enjoyable. Amiable Tom Gemelli favored the day with his presence.

Bud Mason came in from New Jersey, looking streamlined. He is em-played as Chief Chemist by the Pittsburgh Plate Glass Co.

Dick Monahan of Chelmsford is an attorney at law in Boston.

Genial Dr. Joseph McCarty is Medical Examiner in Concord, N. H. Spent the summer at Scituate. Joe is ever present at the class gatherings.

James Duffy was on from Philadelphia, Pa., this summer. He is connected with the Union Carbon and Carbide Co.

Father Chris O'Neil is now stationed at St. Margaret's, Dorchester.

Roy Connolly of the Back Bay is with the Internal Revenue Division covering New England. You better keep in touch with Ray for 1941.

"Normie" Steele is now with the Bethlehem Steel Corporation, East Boston. Dr. Paul Hinchey, located in Salem, takes care of the North Side environs. Charlie Kelly may be found any evening filling pills and ice cream canes at his drug store at Leicester and Washington Streets in Brighton.

The Class Birth Department is increasing: Ken Minihan, Baby Boy; Dick Condon, Baby Boy; Dr. Joseph Doyle, Baby Boy; three halfbacks for 1960.

Charles "Bunk" Driscoll has been transferred to the Colonial Trust Co., Waterbury, Conn. He is Manager of the Credit Division.

Father John Callahan is stationed at Camp Edwards, also "Benedict" Joe Green who was recently married. Joe checks the boys with his military stick.

Clark Goble "Tony" Russo is still carrying on up in Littleton, N. H. He says that Bette D. is lovely.

1929

EUGENE L. McLAUGHLIN
491 Weld Street, West Roxbury

 John Mungovan is now a major in the army, stationed at Fort Benning, Georgia.

Congratulations to George Donaldson on his appointment to the position of Personnel Director at the College. George is also in the A.R.P. in Hyde Park.

Bob Buck has a second son, Stephen. Henry Kievenoor has also joined the ranks of those boasting two children in the family.

Henry Leen recently purchased a house in the Cedar Grove section of Boston.

John Donahue was married to Miss Mary E. McCarthy, recently.

DAVID E. HOCKMAN

57 Reservoir Street, Cambridge

Our sympathies are extended to Mr. John Morris in his recent bereavement.

At the class banquet in June, Rev. John Long, S.J., the Dean of Boston College, and Coaches Myers and Brumbaugh were most welcome guests. In addition, we actually saw the color movies of the Sugar Bowl game and, what made it all the more interesting, were treated to a "talkie" version as the new head coach made a running commentary.

Ted Hoppe was elected President of the class for the ensuing year. In succeeding John Convery, he has two very large shoes to fill. Speaking literally, I notice no difficulty on that score. Speaking figuratively, Ted will do it if he has the continued co-operation of you, his classmates.

Permit me, for the Class, to extend our thanks to John Convery and his wife for organizing us so effectively into an active, energetic group, living up once again to the fundamental purpose of our organization, assistance to alma mater and to each other.

The "blitz" makes its mark even upon our group — Walter Glynn is in the army — strangely enough, Drs. Tom Cavanaugh and Bill Sullivan were his examining physicians.

Among the wardens in the A. R. P. service are Jack Hayes and Ed Morrissey in Boston and Dave Ronan and John Fitzgerald in Cambridge.

Incidentally, Dr. Higgins, I would suggest that you explain a bit more fully at our next banquet a seeming obstacle in the execution of your recently published advice — among our married classmates, it's girls, not boys, that wake daddy up at an early hour.

Arthur Lohan is the manager of the A&P Super Market on Maady Street in Waltham.

You should see John Groden beam when he speaks of his 14 weeks old daughter (see what I mean, Doctor Higgins)?

Dr. John Foley has just completed a post graduate course at Columbia University Medical School and has been appointed to that department of the Massachusetts General Hospital which treats skin diseases.

Tom Sheehan is married and is employed in the Visual Education Department of the District of Columbia schools.

John Sullivan is president of the Boston College Club of Cambridge. He became a father for the second time this spring.

Dr. Bill O'Connor of Cambridge became the father of a baby girl.

Ed Morrissey is in the Tenant Selection Department of the Boston Housing Authority an Oliver Street, Boston.

Dr. Al Kallan is now a resident surgeon at the Boston City Hospital.

Frank McNulty has a real estate and insurance office at 130 Willow St., West Roxbury.

Bill Mulcahy, Leo Moran, and yours truly are happily married — well, I can speak for myself, can't I?

The information reaching this reporter is that Henry Deloney is to be married soon. Henry in is the Cambridge school system.

The class is conducting a raffle on season tickets for the B. C. football games, the proceeds to go for a scholarship fund. So far tickets have been won by A. Hughes, 54 Princeton Road, Arlington, and Paul Barry, 17 Annapolis Street, Darchester. Two more will be drawn on Sept. 26th. If you are interested call Ted Hoppe, Jim McGonn, Lou Carey, Frank McNulty, Bill Griffin, Tom Killion, or Adrian Edwards.

HENRY MOORE LEEN

15 Bennett Street, Woburn, Mass.

Under the capable direction of President George O'Connell, a very enjoyable day was had by all those who gathered for our tenth reunion on Alumni Day last June. About 100 members put in an appearance. Welcomed back after a long absence were John Chisholm and Dave Conway. Bill Coleman laid aside the cares of a busy contracting business to spend the day renewing old acquaintances. It was a genuine pleasure to see Bill again.

Kevin Hern performed in his usually capable and inimitable manner in presenting the Class Gift.

What with vacations and weekends, your reporter finds himself with a paucity of news as to the wanderings and doings of class members. However, we have heard that Jerome Doyle who is attached to the office of the Secretary of the Navy in Washington, D. C., was recently married. Herb O'Connor has been called to active service in the U. S. Army and is stationed at the Boston Army Base. Herb was feted by a group of friends just before entering the service. Ed-die Aaron, a "selectee," is stationed at Fort Knox, Tennessee.

We are sorry to hear that Father Jack Donahue has not been feeling well. He is convalescing at the Catholic Memorial Home, 2446 Highland Avenue, Fall River, Mass., where he will be glad to hear from anyone in person or by mail.

James O'Donnell is up in Portland, on the sales force of the Rheingald Ale and Beer Company.

Tom Crosby, Jack O'Brien and Art Conway spent the summer at Green Harbor. Jack began school at Hopkinton early in September.

Tom Meagher was married last June to Miss Agnes Virginia Hines of South Boston.

Let me conclude with a reminder: Everyone is anxious to hear about his fellow-classmates, but if you keep the news from us, we can never broadcast it — so drop a note if you have any printable information.

1932

JOHN P. CONNOR

1419 Commonwealth Ave., Brighton

On July 12 Gerald Hern was married to Miriam Walsh. The couple went to the west coast on their wedding trip.

Assistant Corporation Counsel Bill Bennett is the latest member of the class to join the ranks of the newly-weds. He took as his bride the former Miss Alice Sullivan of Brighton, on August 2, at St. Columbkille's Church. They were married by his brother, Rev. Edward Bennett, O.S.A. Mr. and Mrs. Frank Sullivan announce the arrival of their first child, Kevin Thomas.

Fr. Francis Donahue, a member of the Trinitarian order, is Superior of St. Joseph's in New Jersey.

Rev. Sidney H. Bayers is a curate at the Most Holy Redeemer Church in East Boston.

Back to the farm movement has affected two members of the class, Jimmy Donovan and Paul Brown. Both Jimmy and Paul have recently purchased farms in Holliston.

Bill Coogan has arrived home to his law practise after a trip of four weeks across the country.

Jack Cronin is connected with the Metropolitan Life Insurance Co.

JAMES M. CONNOLLY
180 Savin Hill Avenue, Dorchester

Fr. Jim Cullinan is now stationed at the Sacred Heart Parish in Amesbury, a French parish.

John Clancy is doing social service work in Syracuse.

Neil Sullivan is a director at the Army Base in South Boston.

Walter Buckley is teaching at Junior High in Somerville.

Phil McNiff is on the staff of the Public Library in Newton.

Frank Maguire is teaching at the B. C. Extension School.

George Lawlar is doing work in biology at St. Louis University.

Fr. Gerald Desmond is at St. Margaret's in Beverly Farms.

Many thanks to Wilfred T. Bauvier, S.J., '33, who contributed the above items. He is at Weston College and will be ordained next year.

John Hanrahan has been appointed to the Newton School System in the Junior High Department. The first B. C. man in the system.

Jack Connelly is the proud father of a daughter.

Len Carr was married to Catherine Cody at St. Mary's in Lynn, July 26.

John Curley has joined the North Shore contingent of our class and is living in Salem.

Fr. Walter Higgins is stationed in South Bend, Indiana, doing parish work.

Jim Connolly attended the Sales meeting of Twentieth Century Fox Film in Los Angeles this summer.

1934

T. HARNEY DONOHUE
1 Oakland Avenue, Brighton

 John Hurley has left his radio work in Washington and has entered the Naval Intelligence Service.

Hal Ramsay now holds a position with the Immigration Department. He is located at Ellis Island in New York Harbor.

Herb Crimlisk is now connected with the Legal Department of the Lumberman's Mutual Casualty Co. at 260 Tremont Street, Boston.

I noted in the papers that Tom Callahan has been appointed a teacher at Peabody High School. However, it was necessary to grant him a leave of absence for Tom was drafted last winter and is not too sure when he will be released.

John Long, now a Senior Clerk in the Suffolk County Registry of Deeds, has become one of the landed gentry, having purchased a home in West Roxbury.

We are pleased to note the use of Herb Kenney in the journalistic world. He now has a feature story on the front page of the Boston Sunday Post in the spot that Bill Cunningham used to occupy.

Charlie Boyce is a big-shot construction man with the O'Connor Construction Company. At present he is finishing up a job in New Hampshire and then whereto he does not know — maybe Iceland, Alaska or Ulster.

Bob Glennon finally made the grade after several years of persistent wooing. Miss Genevieve Mullin finally said "Yes." They were married in time to go South for the Tulane game and will reside in Somerville when they return.

The sympathy of the Class is extended to the family of Bill Day who passed away in August. We also send condolences to Joe Hogan and Frank Donohue, whose fathers are recently deceased.

1935

DR. JOSEPH G. RILEY
465 Lexington Street, Waltham

 Albert Marris is a social worker in the Federal Social Service organization.

John J. Murphy is manager of the Worcester branch of a well known insurance firm.

Ordained this past June, Father Frank McConville is now stationed at the Oblate Scholasticate, Washington, D. C.

Joseph Curran is now assistant regional director of the National Youth Administration program for the New England district.

Father John "Dave" Welsh is now stationed in Maynard, Mass.

Robert Donovan is an Ensign in the U. S. Naval Reserve.

Rev. John Tagliano is stationed in St. Mary's Parish, North Plymouth, Mass.

Timothy McCarthy recently received his Doctorate in Chemistry from Georgetown University and is now engaged in Chemical Research.

Frank McGuire is associated with the New England Telephone and Telegraph Co. in the equipment department.

Louis Melanson is teaching in the Malden school system.

Wyndham School, Marlborough St., one of the most progressive of Boston's secretarial schools, is directed by Edward J. O'Callahan, who has been headmaster of the institution for the past two years.

Andrew Murphy is now living in Boston and is now associated with the Boston office of the Sears Roebuck organization.

1936

JOSEPH P. KEATING
27 East Street, Natick, Mass.

 Alumni Day, just like everything else has come and gone — but there are many memories, as the poets are wont to say. Unfortunate, for reasons unknown, only about forty of the "Perfect '36" class put in an appearance. Der Tag was not a success numerically, but it certainly was socially. The real handicap in having so few present was that each one who did show up had to wear eight maroon and gold "costumes" rather than one. The costumes, designed by Gerard Burke (patent pending) were delicately hand-cut capes, tinted with the glorious colors of Alma Mater, and obviously showed that the reams of crepe de popier used was so much money over the dam. A gale was blowin', so you can imagine how impressive we looked with three sheets in the wind — times eight. Among the "hoi polloi" present were Prexy Fred Roche, Bob Cahill, Jerry Burke, (Ringmaster for the day), Tom Mahoney, George Mahoney, George (Narragansett) Goodwin, Fitzzy Fitzmaurice, Poul Powers, John O'Connor, Charlie Dolan, Tom Duffy, Leo Horgan (brother tout to brother Goodwin) Tip O'Neil (who was weak-kneed at the thought of his week-off marriage), and others of the class who slip my mind at present. A very important class meeting was held at which nothing was resolved, decided or voted. After the dinner we all adjourned to the auditorium where the aforementioned Jerry Burke, on behalf of the class, presented the class gift of $500 to the college. After that the class had no ready cash so we went home. Period. Last spring many classmates were ordained to the priesthood, among them were John Foley, Jim (Red) Keating, Jim Manning and John Zuromskis. Bob Sullivan and Frank Donovan were ordained in Washington. (Lines form on the right for confessions, fellows). Father Manning is located in Hopkinton and I had a long talk with him a few weeks ago — he is very happy and wants to be remembered to all.

Bob Cahill, vice-president of the class, was recently appointed executive secretary of the District Division of the Greater Boston Community Fund. Charlie Dolan, who is with the Retail Credit Union, has been transferred to Brunswick, Me., and according to last reports is doing well, besides being well on his way to become a real Maine-iac. Fritz Hart, married in 1939, now has a baby girl. Fritz is associated with Lever Bros., ergo: "Do you use Swan on your baby, Mr. Hart?" Eddie Furbush is now with Uncle Sam's OGPU, the F.B.I., and Bob Dunham is in the Baltimore office of Lever Bros.

Sid Dunn recently passed the Massachusetts Bar and is now a practicing attorney; Mark Dolton — remember the Stylus? — is at Harvard Law and Tom Haverly is at Suffolk Law. Don MacDonald of the Watertown MacDonalds is now a married man, as is yours truly. Charlie Miller is with the American Supply Co. in Boston. Sam Leavis, purchasing agent with the Kresge Co. in Pennsylvania, enlisted in the army in January and is now a sergeant at Camp Edwards.

Congratulations are in order for Bill Hayward, who, as we all know, has been made Public Relations man at the college. Good luck, Bill.

I received a long and pleasant letter from Fred Garrity, who is now Assistant Field Director of the American Red Cross at Camp Lee, Virginia (even his letter drawled, so Fred must be a real "honey chile" by now). Fred is married and at the time of his letter was expecting the stork or at least his Mrs. was. Fred's letter contained a good deal of news about some of the wandering thirty-sixers; he hinted that Jim O'Hearn, with Catholic Charities in the nation's capital, was soon to take a step in the wrong direction and be married; John (Red) Larkin is also in Washington as a Juvenile Court Probation officer; Roy Hogan, with the Community Service in New York, visited Fred in Baltimore with his fiancée, and expected to be married during the summer; Paul Bresnahan was married on Easter Monday in Maplewood, New Jersey. Paul is with the Catholic Protectory in Social Work as a parole officer in New York City. (Imagine a parole officer getting married! Undoubtedly this class as a whole has gone to the dogs — practically everyone has made at least one visit to a good Fother to get himself tied into an unbreakable knot). Fred winds up his welcome letter by inviting all who go to Tulane to drop in on him — also all who go either to the Sugar Bowl or who detour on the way to the Rose Bowl.

Johnny Roche (Milford) engaged in Social Work in California was married in Los Angeles on May 18, and Roxbury John Roche has moved on to Chicago in the field of Social Work and is to be married soon.

Brent Gordon, with the F.B.I. in California, was married in Los Angeles on August 2nd to Miss Alice Hurley of Milton, Mass. Johnny Roche's wife was maid-of-honor, or is it matron-of-honor, at the wedding. Myles Connolly, '18, was best man. Alice and Brent motored on their honeymoon to all the old missions in California. All Brent's friends in the class are anxiously awaiting the day when he and his bride will return to the East.

The mailman on my route is complaining that he has too little to do — so the poor guy won't get fired, why not sit down and drop me a line passing on news of yourself and classmates?

STEPHEN A. WITHAM
30 Irving Street, Cambridge

☛ The news this time is so military that it sounds like a roll call. "Counting off," we first heard from Ensign John Fleet down at the naval air station in Miami, Florida. After graduation John went to Pensacola, from there to B. C. Graduate School, and after that to M. I. T. for training in meteorology. Then, for some practical experience he joined Al Flahive at the U. S. Weather Bureau in East Boston, and, finally, entered the navy as a meteorologist in April, 1941.

Frank Keefe spent a busy week-end back in June. He was commissioned an ensign in the navy on June 6, said "I do" in the presence of Virginia Hitchcock on June 7, and left the same afternoon for his first assignment at San Diego.

Jim McInerney was in town over Labor Day. He is also an ensign attached to the Naval Supply Corps at the Philadelphia Navy Yard. He may spend the winter at school in Washington. Looking behind the scenes we see what makes the navy go. At the Fore River shipyard we find Ben Gambino is a driller; Ben Hines is in the steel mill; and Don McKee is a shipfitter and Don has put on 12 lbs. which should end his "48 flat" days. Lieutenant Dan Sullivan spoke up for the army on this letterhead "Headquarters Company, 182 nd Infantry, Camp Edwards, Mass." Don has a good word for the grub by reporting a gain of 25 lbs.

As for the boys in "Civies" — Leo Coveney was seen one Wednesday evening this summer trying to bring the Alumni Softball Championship to Hyde Park. Tom Soint is now living in Cincinnati with his charming Mrs. Tom's endeavors for the United Shoe Machinery Corporation gives him an opportunity to see much of Ohio and Indiana. Dimmy Zaitz was married last July to Anna Kuchinski of Arlington. Congratulations from us all, Dimmy! Danny Pratola has been spending the summer in Caribbean and Mexican ports — a "Good Neighbor" perhaps. The writer owns up to a baby girl on last July 19. If any of you have similar announcements — there is no better place than this column.

Frank McCarthy has been appointed to the department of Physics, at Connecticut University.

Daniel T. O'Connor has been called to the colors, and is now in South Carolina.

Rev. William R. Harvey was ordained to the priesthood this year at Los Angeles.

But whether you have babies or not, we ought to hear a word from — Ahearn, Barrett, Campbell, Dergay, Eccles, Feeney, Galvin, Hamilton, Kane, Lane, Joe McCarthy, Nyhen, O'Connell, Patridge, Quirk, Russell, Sonderson, Tuohy, Verocka, Wolsh and anyone else that has anything to write and time to write it.

1938

JOHN W. GAVIN
7 Speedwell Street, Dorchester

☛ Robert J. Fleming is now an ensign, stationed at the Naval Air Base, Norfolk, Va. He has made flights to Bermuda and San Diego.

Bernard M. Scully, Jr., has enlisted in the regular army and is attached to the Medical Corps.

36 Lexington Avenue, Cambridge

 Andy O'Brien is looking forward to a busy fall season. You will agree when you consider his duties as an up and coming banker, his evening law studies, and his marriage in the near future to Miss Janet Salter of Arlington. All in a day's work, according to Andy.

The class is rather well represented in Washington with Gerry Coughlan working in the Federal Bureau of Investigation, and Phil Thompson pouring over weighty tomes in the National Archives (and no doubt putting on his one man band act nightly for the benefit of the weary heads of our government). Bill Holland and George Follon are also down there.

John Flynn and Roy Coyne will finish their course at the Law School in June, while Dick Kelley, on the other hand, will suspend his legal education indefinitely because he has reported to Uncle Sam.

Paul Devlin was among the first of the selectees to be called. He has left Camp Edwards to enter the Air Corps. Happy landing, Paul.

Benedict column. Paul Needham is one of the first of our number to brave the so-called stormy seas of "you know what."

John Baldi and Gene Donovan, reportedly two of the next to take the fatal step, are engaged in social work, as is Herb Rooney.

Lieut. Tim Docey is stationed at Randolph Field in Texas. Wonder if Tim remembers all he learned about the "doldrums" in Mr. Buck's Economic Geography class.

Al Tenney is one of the bright young men at Lever Bros.

Harold Langlois is doing social work in Buffalo. He is to be married in the fall. His pol, Roger Battles, is in the aviation field with the Navy in Florida.

There will be something doing in the way of class activity before the snow flies, fellows. In the meantime, how about hearing from some of you? If you are somewhat bashful about dropping us a penny postcard concerning yourselves, then tell us about some of the rest of the fellows. Perhaps someone will write in about you.

1940

EDWARD M. GREELEY

7 Connecticut Avenue, Somerville

 John O'Hara has proved himself a good worker again. He has been advanced to the position of "claim adjuster" for the American Mutual Co. Jack will start his second year at Boston College Evening Law School very soon.

Shortly before Labor Day, Tom Gair of Dorchester took up the rights and duties of the marital state and getting the jump on most of his classmates.

Tom did not come close to Paul Duffy however. Paul has a youngster almost one year old. Paul is doing very well with the General Motors Acceptance Corporation.

Among our stalwarts at the Fore River Shipyards we have Joseph Joseph, who insists he does not deserve this 3 to 11 shift. Bill Dwyer, Dick Harrison, Al Schneiderhan, Tom McSharry, and Phil Garrity are at the same place helping with this defense work.

Paul Greeley is settling down to one thing now. He is going to Boston College Social Service School.

Starting their second year at the B. C. Social Service School are: Jim Anderson, Bill Brinkert, Frank Burns, Jim Byrne, Tom Cudmore, Pat Ennis, Tim Faherty, Frank Feeney, Bill McGlone, Don Mulcahy, Ed Nagle, Al Sinofsky and Jim Sullivan.

Fred Driscall is now employed by the Blanchard Machine Shop in Cambridge.

Everett Noonan is now in charge of the Wright Wind Tunnel at M. I. T. Speaking of aeronautical things, Joe Grandfield had a fine position this summer as an airplane technician at the Bendix Corp. in Long Island, New York.

Ed Gruskowski did so well at Catholic University on his fellowship in Latin that he was not only awarded his M. A. but has been offered a scholarship to study on for his Doctorate. Progressing rapidly in the insurance business is Frank Hassey of Dorchester. He is now an underwriter for the Liberty Mutual Co.

Working all day in the U. S. Treasury Dept. Office in the Park Square Building and going to the B. C. Law School most of the night is the very capable Larry Kickham from Brookline.

You probably met Tom Powers at Nantasket in his capacity as the manager of the very fine eating establishment called "Joseph's." Tom is freshman coach again at B. C.

Our class boasts all fine men. However, at Shadowbrook studying to be Jesuits there are some real outstanding men we are pleased to count our own. They are: Joe Sheo, Paul Nash, Ambrose Mahoney, John Banks, John M. Molloy, John Kinnier, Jim Coughlin and Bill Larkin.

John Blackwood, after taking a defense course in Explosives at M. I. T., has started work as an inspector for the British Government. The plant is situated at West Honover, Mass.

George Sullivan is like John Roosevelt in starting his business career as a buyer at Filene's Department Store.

Dave Lucey and Joe Keough are working for the Empire Carpet Co. in Boston. Dave is planning to be married on September 28.

Tom Gill is a bombardier at Barksdale Field in Louisiana and Lieutenant Wally Brickett is one of his instructors. Both these fellows plan to be at the Tulane game this season.

Pete Cignetti will be assistant coach at Malden High and plans to study for his Master's Degree in Physical Education at Boston University.

John Gibbons is now in the Navy. Say, fellows, we shall be very pleased to hear from you and your friends. Won't you write and tell us what you are doing?

 Since graduation, Joe Cronin, Joe McManus, Ray Scannell, George Kerr, John Kinchla and "Chubby" Cannors have been accepted as members of the incoming class of Seminarians at St. John's.

During the summer months Newburyport's John Connor made the North Shore conscious of "The Pause that Refreshes" with his truckloads of Coca-Cola to Gloucester and the Artist Colony.

Also attached to Coca-Cola is Joe O'Reilly of Brockton, high-ranking student and co-winner of the medal for scholastic achievement at graduation with the now Melrose John Ambrogne.

Frank Hegarty dropped in early in the summer before leaving for the West and a commission in the Army Flying School.

BOSTON COLLEGE

Bob Murphy and his namesake, T. P. of Dorchester, have been working in a plumbing supply house in South Boston.

Paul "Lampy" Post has been deferred by the Allston Draft Board and should weather the international storm as a civilian.

Tom Monahan is with the Herald-Traveler and the long hours are beginning to wear him down.

George McManama, about to start his studies at Tufts Medical School, spent the summer in the employ of the Waltham Park Department.

Tom Golligan whiled away the sunny days at a roadside stand in Weston, eating and selling ice cream. He and Fred Jaquith are entering Harvard Business School. If Ben Arnold convinced the Draft Board he would learn more in the National Defense course than at Edwards, he will join them.

Over the Fourth of July Hampton Beach looked like the B. C. Cafeteria during the third period. Walter Cleary, John Gallagher, George Hern were among the many who were in evidence. John is working for a down town curtain company.

Joe Zabitski is doing defense work down at Fare River.

Bill Brewin, employed in a Boston Insurance Company, plans to study law at the B. C. night course.

Gene Goodreault, toiling for a local coal house during the summer, looking far from without his sidekick, Charlie.

Finally, all men of '41 are urged to drop me a line, even if it's only a penny postcard, letting me know where you are, what you're doing, what your draft status is and how things are going. Then, too, if there's any little announcement or item due to come up about any of the others, take a few minutes to sit down and write a few lines. Through this column we can have a little chat and keep in touch with one another. Please co-operate to make it truly representative.
